Subject: KY Chamber School District Membership

Vicki

Since we are getting so many request from school districts about KY Chamber membership we decided to develop a consistent policy. We are trying to make membership affordable for schools to receive the benefit of the significant workers compensation discount. We have developed the following membership levels for school districts:

District Category	Employee Size	Annual Dues
Large Districts	2,000+	$2,000
Medium Districts	500 – 1,999	$1,500
Small Districts	less than 500	$1,000

So rather than the $2500 we discussed today, your fare share would be $1000. Hope this helps.

DECEMBER 2013

GENERAL ASSEMBLY PREVIEW

Keep Kentucky moving forward

With a watchful eye on the budget, Chamber sets goals for 2014

When the General Assembly convenes in January, it's a sure bet that the state budget will have a prominent place on the agenda. The spending plan is always the subject of lengthy deliberations and debate, and that is as it should be since the budget establishes the state's priorities for its projects and programs.

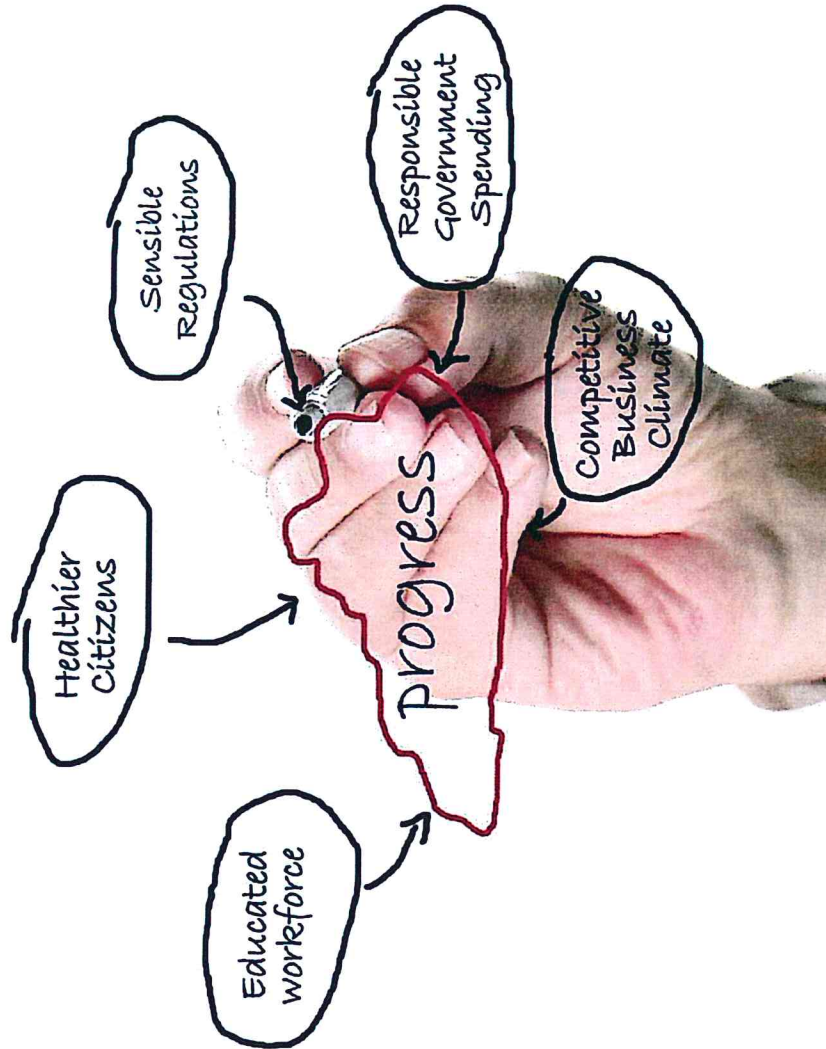

The Kentucky Chamber's interest in the budget stems from our review of state spending over the past few years and our findings that appropriations of Kentuckians' tax dollars have been moving away from education and economic development and toward such unsustainable areas as corrections, Medicaid and public employee health benefits.

That's why the Chamber's legislative agenda includes attention to the budget deliberations with an emphasis on prioritized spending on areas that will build a stronger business climate – meaning education and economic development.

We also will advocate that lawmakers maintain sustainable debt levels and adhere to spending principles that limit spending to 6 percent of the state economy, eliminate the ongoing structural deficit and ensure an adequate “rainy day fund” for emergencies.

Although the budget always commands attention – and is the centerpiece for much of what happens in any legislative session – the Chamber will also focus on key areas that our policy councils believe offer an opportunity to move Kentucky forward.

Improve education

- Kentucky's adoption of tougher academic standards was an important step toward ensuring students are prepared to succeed in college and career. We will continue our strong support for the implementation of the standards in the state's classrooms.
- We will support the enactment of a charter school law to give all children access to the highest-quality education possible.
- Our agenda also includes support for early childhood education and for protecting school funding.

Encourage Public-Private Partnerships

- We will push for passage of a comprehensive plan to encourage the creation of partnerships between private companies and government to save tax dollars while providing needed projects and services.

Improve Health & Wellness

- We will continue to support the creation of incentives for workplace-based wellness programs and enactment of a statewide smoke-free law.
- Improving the medical liability climate also is a priority item.

Maintain Low-Cost Energy Rates

- Supporting the infrastructure of Kentucky's signature coal industry has long been a priority for the Chamber and that will continue in the 2014 session.
- We will work to maintain Kentucky's low cost utility rates by opposing proposals that would change the make-up of Kentucky's non-partisan Public Service Commission.

Tax reform and necessarily associated resolution of state government fiscal issues will help [create a better climate for small businesses in Kentucky]. If the state is managing the personnel and pension issues and reforms the way we tax people and businesses to be simpler and fairer, small business will be able to get better traction.

Sara Smith
President
Smith Management Group

Support Comprehensive Tax Reform

Talk about tax reform continues around the Capitol, although most observers are skeptical about whether anything meaningful can be accomplished in a year when all House seats and half of those in the Senate will be on the ballot.

The Kentucky

Chamber is on record in supporting comprehensive tax reform to ensure a competitive climate that will promote long-term economic development and job growth. Since taxes have a significant impact on business decisions that lead to such growth, the Chamber believes any reform should adhere to the following principles:

- Support growth and competitiveness.
- Reduce the cost of capital.
- Simplify the tax code.
- Promote fairness.
- Continue to focus on state spending to ensure investment in such future-building areas as education.

AES provides electrical services for a diverse range of industries, all of which are impacted by public policies originating in Frankfort. We know the Chamber will work diligently with the state legislature to help make Kentucky a more competitive Commonwealth for these organizations to operate within. As large companies find more favorable business conditions, smaller businesses benefit from their renewed need for certain goods and services.

James Strange III
VP Business Development
Advanced Electrical Systems, Inc.

Headquartered in Frankfort, the Kentucky Chamber is the largest business organization in the state. Representing the interests of more than 90,000 businesses, the Chamber focuses on state and federal issues that impact the business climate in the Commonwealth.

Create a Competitive Business Environment

Also in the area of improving competitiveness, the Chamber will support giving local governments, with voter approval, the option to temporarily increase the sales tax for targeted economic development projects.

Unite Business. Advance Kentucky.

Clearly, our agenda is a full one, and we know that additional issues will emerge as the session progresses. As always, we look forward to the opportunity to represent the interests of Kentucky's employers as we work together to build a stronger future for our Commonwealth.
