

Panther Academy's Student of the Month for March 2023

Alex is one of those students who just knows how to do the right thing at all times. Teachers and classmates both can always count on Alex to try his best, not argue or complain and just be happy about being in school. He gets along with everyone in his class and is a friend to all! He is often seen helping a neighbor at his desk or playing with many different groups of friends on the playground. He does not complain about doing classwork and does his best in all things. Additionally, all of the character education words can apply to Alex. In October, he won the character award for kindness, but he could have easily been the winner for cooperation, respect, determination, and responsible, just to name a few. He is a true joy to have in class!
