Emergency Services Awareness Day
Date: August 11, 2012
Time: 10am until 3pm
Location: Lowes Parking Lot

This event is to educate the community on all the emergency services available to their community and allows the community to meet all the emergency responders that respond when they are needed. This event includes a Waterball Challenge. The Waterball Challenge involves a firemen competition that has a huge ball attached to a cable which is stretched across the parking lot. The firemen teams spray water at the ball with a fire hose and the team that keeps the ball on the opposite team's side the longest, in a timed period, is the winning team. Many teams compete, but only one team finishes first. Trophies are given to the winners.

Also at this event we have many demonstrations on hand such as firemen and medics performing an extrication demonstration demonstrating the rescue efforts involved in saving someone from a vehicle accident. The firemen will also perform a high angle rescue demonstration on the ladder truck. The sheriff's department will demonstrate a drug search with the trained drug dogs and also show how the canines apprehend a suspect. Many departments and organizations come and bring equipment, fire trucks, ambulances, boats, rescue trucks, and many other emergency type vehicles and equipment.

This year for the extrication demonstration we would like to demonstrate rescue efforts on a school bus. This demonstration will teach the community what all is involved in extricating adults and children from school bus collisions. We would like to ask the Henderson Board of Education to donate one of their old school buses for this demonstration. If you are able to help with this donation it would be greatly appreciated.

Thanks,

Nicholas D. Risley
