DATE: October 1, 2012
SUBJECT: October 2012 EPSB Update Memo

Mission Statement

The Education Professional Standards Board, in full collaboration and cooperation with its education partners, promotes high levels of student achievement by establishing and enforcing rigorous professional standards for preparation, certification, and responsible and ethical behavior of all professional educators in Kentucky.

NOTE: The next regularly scheduled meeting of the EPSB is Monday, October 15, 2012 at 9:00 a.m. in Conference Room A, 100 Airport Road, 3rd Floor, Frankfort, Kentucky.

Employee Appreciation Week

October 1-5 is Employee Appreciation Week and it gives us a chance to honor the hardworking staff members at the EPSB. Each member of the EPSB staff gives 100% effort every day. In the past several years, the EPSB has suffered budget cuts and staff reductions, but we are still turning out the same amount of work, and in some cases, more work with less staff. Our certification specialists, the consultants working in the division of Professional Learning and Assessment, the hardworking staff who handle accreditation and program review, the legal staff, the information technology staff, and the hardworking crew in the executive office who make sure the phones are answered and the bills are paid, implement the board's policies and ensure the EPSB's goals are accomplished.

Thank you EPSB staff for all your hard work and determination!

LEAD Reports due Soon

Districts are reminded that October is the month during which the LEAD report must be corrected, completed, and submitted to EPSB. Thursday, November 1, is the sign-off date, but districts may sign off earlier if all errors have been corrected. Superintendents should take a moment this month to speak with the LEAD coordinators and view the Preliminary Audit Report, which will show any critical errors such as out-of-field teachers, new teachers not yet in KTIP, and those with expired certificates.

Kentucky Leads the Nation

Kentucky Leads the Nation is a project created by Kentucky's eight educational cooperatives and the Kentucky Department of Education to help inspire Kentucky's education partners to pursue new teaching and learning methods in the Commonwealth. On September 25, the first Kentucky Leads the Nation field trip was held at the amazing J.B. Atkinson Academy for Excellence in Louisville, Ky. This elementary school houses a clinical site for the University of Louisville's College of Education. The school staff works with U.L.'s faculty and teacher candidates to further their goal of ensuring that each student is one day closer to college readiness at the end of each school day. The students begin their day at a morning meeting which closes with them shouting out their expected college graduation date. Atkinson has even received national attention: <http://www.msnbc.msn.com/id/21134540/vp/49156028#49156028>. Dr. Christine Sherrez, Associate Professor of Literacy at U.L, and Stefanie Nutter, the principal at Atkinson, work collaboratively to ensure that each child enrolled at the school has the skills and the desire to attend college!

Kentucky Leads the Nation will be visiting other innovative schools over the next year in an effort to showcase the amazing things our districts and colleges of education are doing. Atkinson is a great example of what districts and colleges of education can do when they work together. On October 26 and 27, Kentucky Leads the Nation is sponsoring a Creating a Culture of Innovation Summit at the Crowne Plaza Conference Center in Louisville to help districts think outside the box. In addition, the Kentucky Board of Education is promulgating regulations, in compliance with House Bill 37 passed during the 2012 General Assembly, for school districts to apply to be a "District of Innovation." This is a wonderful opportunity for school districts to pair with educator preparation programs to create transformative schools where the focus is college and career readiness.
