Thomas More, and Newport Aquarium Partnership for Marine Biology

The program will allow the students in a Marine Biology track to learn from a large number of species available at the aquarium.

Dr. Chris Lorentz, TMC professor of biology and director of the Environmental Science Program and Biology Field Station will also teach an introduction to marine biology dual-credit course for high school students.

Using Resources on www.4teachers.org website

There are many tools available for teachers to use from the above website. The key items include

1. Rubistar
2. Quizstar
3. Checklists and many more.

One of our teacher candidates Kevin Poe created a variety of videos to explain four highlights of the tools available on the website in a step-by-step manner.

These short videos provide you with the details of creating rubrics for assessment, online quizzes, and gives you an idea of how 4teachers.org can be used by educators.

These videos are about two minutes or less in length. They provide the basics of using the site.

email me if there are any questions or you would like to find additional information about these items. I will forward your requests to Kevin.
