

Workshop: Measuring and Improving Student Engagement

September 10, 2014

10:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. EDT

Lexington, KY

Hilton Lexington/Downtown
369 West Vine Street

Presenter

Dr. Jerry Johnson, Associate Professor,
University of North Florida

Audience

Educators interested in assessing levels of student engagement in their schools and identifying steps to improve it.

Cost

No Cost (Lunch/transportation costs on your own)

REL Appalachia is pleased to sponsor this workshop for K12 educators to:

- Identify the types of student engagement educators seek to understand and measure.
- Identify an appropriate student engagement survey with sound psychometric properties.
- Learn about survey administration procedures.

After the event, REL Appalachia will:

- Assist districts in setting up an online version of the selected survey.
- Analyze survey data for districts that administer the survey.
- Prepare school- or district-level student engagement reports that share results.
- Assist schools/districts in interpreting survey results to inform practice.

To register, please visit
www.relappalachia.org/events/

*Space is limited to 50 participants.
Approved for EILA credit.*