Dollar General's commitment to literacy began with J.L. Turner, co-founder of Dollar General. With only a third grade education, J.L. was able to overcome tremendous odds and launch a successful retail business. As an extension of Dollar General's corporate commitment to literacy, the Dollar General Literacy Foundation was established in 1993 to help increase the functional literacy of adults, families and children.

Funding Focus
Dollar General Literacy Foundation Youth Literacy Grants provide funding to schools and local nonprofit organizations to help with the implementation or expansion of literacy programs. Programs must target K-12th grade students who are:
- below grade level readers;
- readers with learning disabilities;
- English Language Learners; or
- students with Individualized Education Plans (IEP)

Organizations requesting funds must provide direct services to one of the groups of readers defined above, and instruction must be designed to meet the varying learning preferences and needs of the defined target population.

Organizations that have received a Youth Literacy Grant from the Dollar General Literacy Foundation in the last two consecutive years (2015 and 2016) are not eligible for the 2017 Youth Literacy Grant. Organizations may reapply after a one year hiatus period.

Grant Maximum: $4,000

Please note, one Youth Literacy grant application may be submitted per organization. Organizations submitting multiple applications for this category will not be considered for funding.

Youth Literacy grants provide funding for instructional materials, books, computers and software. Administrative fees, salaries and stipends are not supported through this grant.

Timeline:

May 18, 2017 at 11:00 PM CST	Deadline to apply
September 7, 2017	Grants announced
May 25, 2018	Impact reports due

Reporting Requirements:
Organizations receiving funds from the Dollar General Literacy Foundation are required to provide an online impact report detailing the progress that has been made toward the objectives outlined in the approved proposal. Organizations will be required to report the number of students served, student education gains, and detailed budget information. Organizations that do not comply with reporting requirements will not be eligible for future funding from the Dollar General Literacy Foundation. You will receive an e-mail notification once your Youth Literacy impact report is available for completion online.
