

Certification for the 2017-18 School Year Constitutionally Protected Prayer in Public Schools

This is to certify that the local educational agency does not have any policy that prevents, or otherwise denies participation in, constitutionally protected prayer in public schools as set forth in the U.S. Department of Education guidance.

The guidance clarifies the rights of students to pray in public schools. As stated in the guidance, "...the First Amendment forbids religious activity that is sponsored by the government but protects religious activity that is initiated by private individuals" such as students. Therefore, "among other things, students may read their Bibles or other scriptures, say grace before meals, and pray or study religious materials with fellow students during recess, the lunch hour, or other non-instructional time to the same extent that they may engage in nonreligious activities."

At the same time, school officials may not "compel students to participate in prayer or other religious activities. Nor may teachers, school administrators and other school employees, when acting in their official capacities as representatives of the state, encourage or discourage prayer, or participate in such activities with students."
