WHAT IS IT? The Prichard Committee for Academic Excellence is creating a one-day, power-packed, parent leadership experience that will bring parents from across the state together to share and learn from Kentucky education and community leaders and from each other! Come and help build a new active statewide network of public education champions.

WHAT WILL I LEARN? Six hours of active learning and sharing with each other and with state and local education leaders will include: an introduction to new ways of thinking about state education data . . . information sharing from state and local education leaders . . . how parents are leading in various parts of the state . . . and, an introduction to the new accountability model and what it means for schools, students, and parents.

WHO CAN ATTEND? Parents, caregivers, community leaders, and mentors of public school students – anyone who wants to take an active leadership role as a public education champion in their local schools/communities. Whether you've participated in a parent leadership program or not, this Summit will offer learning opportunities for all.

COSTS: No cost to participants; meals are provided.
