KUNA PROGRAM OVERVIEW

At KUNA, students participate in one of our program areas based on their grade, experience, and preference. Each program area has a variety of delegate roles available to students, which are summarized below and outlined in greater detail at www.kyymca.org/kuna

Presiding and Supporting Officers lead each program area, and interested students can visit the KUNA Officers page to learn about the different ways they can serve: www.kyymca.org/kuna/officers

UN General Assembly | HS & MS | All Delegates Eligible

The UN General Assembly is the largest program area at KUNA, and includes all delegates not serving in other program areas. Delegates in the General Assembly serve as Ambassadors for their assigned countries, with each country sponsoring one (1) UN Resolution. Resolutions are ranked in Committees, then debated and voted on either in Summits or in a session of the full General Assembly.

UN Security Council | HS & MS | 11-12th or 7-8th graders; 1 student per country

Security Council delegates debate issues pertaining to international security in an open debate format. Each country can have 1 Security Council delegate, and delegations representing the 5 Permanent Members (China, US, UK, France, Russia) MUST have a delegate on the Security Council at KUNA.

UN Secretariat | HS Only | 10-12th graders; Application-based

The Secretariat is composed of 7 Under-Secretaries General (heads of UN offices/programs) who provide policy and legal analysis to the Secretary General on resolutions before the General Assembly.

Intl. Court of Justice | HS Only | 10-12th graders; 1 team of 1-3 students per delegation

The International Court of Justice (ICJ) hears Contentious cases related to disputes between countries, and Advisory Cases clarifying international law. ICJ teams are assigned one side of either an Advisory Case or a Contentious Case. Teams will present 2-3 rounds of oral arguments based on the case they are assigned. ICJ Presidents & Justices will hear the oral arguments and score each team.

Media Corps | HS Only | 10-12th graders; 1 student per delegation

Media Corps delegates craft compelling news stories on important Assembly topics. Media delegates publish their articles and content on a variety of platforms, including our website and social media.

REPRESENTING COUNTRIES

Each delegation selects the country or countries they choose to represent on a first-come, first-served basis using our online intent and registration process: www.kyymca.org/kuna/reqistration

As Ambassadors emulating the culture and diverse interests of UN member countries, students explore re-examine the world from a new perspective. In addition to sponsoring a UN resolution on behalf of their country, students represent aspects of their country's culture and traditions through:

Global Village Booth

Each delegation may have a booth to showcase the culture and identity of their

Country Sign & Flag

Each country designs a sign to display with their flag in the KUNA Parade of Nations.

International Stage

Selected delegations may perform a cultural

Cultural Attire

WHY KUNA?

In 2018, students completed pre- and post-assessment surveys, and the results prove KUNA has a major lasting impact.

Growth of skills and confidence

KUNA gives students the stage to build their confidence in front of crowds and refine their skills. Students who...

Understanding international issues and policy

Crafting resolutions and debating with fellow students across the state allow participants to learn more about the way countries work together to solve for global problems. 89% of students either 'Agree' or 'Strongly Agree' that they've gained an expanded learning of international diplomacy, policies, and law.

Learning about new cultures and perspectives

Through creating cultural displays and exploring them at KUNA, students can learn about hundreds of traditions all in the course of a few hours. 92% of students either 'Agree' or 'Strongly Agree' that they have learned about new countries and international culture, and 94% of first-time attendees responded positively.

Gaining global experiences right at home

KUNA brings students out of their bubble, learning about places and ideas they may never come across in their daily lives. While many students might look into these things later in life, 48% of students said they weren't looking to pursue an international career, making KUNA a rare global experience they may otherwise not get.
