Lesson Plans

Students will sustain their own part in an ensemble, increasingly difficult music in treble and bass clef.

The KMEA Festival is a very important component of our musicians' growth. Many of the students will be performing for the first time for a rating. Each year, the students learn new things from this event, from sightreading strategies to performance etiquette. We will receive recorded comments from each judge, which we will use to assist in reflection. There will be a writing prompt about the experience when we return to school the next day.
