Mr. Adams,

Murphy Group Architects (MGA) is pleased to submit this letter of interest for your Early Learning Center Addition / Renovation. MGA brings extensive educational experience to your projects. The following projects are featured in the photos on the left:

- New Child Development Centers of the Bluegrass facility on the University of Kentucky campus - This facility provided early childhood care and education for 165 children, many of whom require special needs assistance.
- Early Childhood Laboratory facility for UK's College of Education - It included 8 classrooms designed for the care of children and the training of teachers in Early Childhood Education. One unique aspect of this project is its association with students with Visual Impairments. The entire facility was designed with their special requirements in mind.

We believe you'll find MGA is uniquely qualified for the following reasons:

Extensive Expertise in PK-6 Elementary School planning - We've worked in more than 60 school districts throughout Kentucky. We understand the planning issues, review requirements, construction costs, and funding needs of your project.

Large Firm Experience / Small Firm Attention - Before founding my own firm in 2004, I was a Partner in the largest architectural firm in Kentucky. I led their Education Studio, and completed well over 100 school projects. In my new firm, I've focused on ONLY taking on a limited number of projects so that I can give my full attention to each one.

To us and you, this is a very important project, that's why we think you should know that I will lead your project from beginning to end; you won't be passed off to junior professionals.

A Long history of successfully partnering with Kentucky's most qualified sub-consultants - We've worked with many Engineering firms throughout Kentucky and will sit down with you before we begin to determine your preferred Engineers.

Our team recognizes this project is about more than just classrooms. It will have a significant impact on your community and its students for generations. That's a responsibility we don't take lightly, and we would be honored to assist in creating a foundation for its success. Our team truly appreciates the opportunity to submit our qualifications, and we are confident that Murphy Group Architects will be the perfect fit for your project. We look forward to further discussing the possibilities with you.

Sincerely,

Timothy Murphy, AIA, LEED AP
