Individual Sport Items

Final Discussion, Golf State Format

After much review by the Board in the last year, at the January, 2019 meeting, the Board voted to cap the entrant field at 144 for each tournament and to continue to bring the winning and runner-up team.

In February, a draft alignment was approved to have twelve regions in boys and girls golf, and qualify the top two teams and fill the remaining field with an equal number of individuals from regions. In addition, the decision was finalized to compose the championship team entry to four of the five region entrants.

The decisions were based on information gathered from other states and from the member schools with regard to past participation history.

In May, the Board heard from representatives during the public comment session of the Work Session regarding golf and a desire to restore the five-person team with four scores counting. Representatives presented other viewpoints. Following the discussion, the Board voted to place the item on the agenda for the July meeting with two alternatives:

OPTION 1 (restore five-person team only bringing region winning team)

- Cap the field at 144 golfers with each region's winning team advancing and the best seven at-large players not on the region winning team also advancing;
- All 144 qualifying players eligible for the individual championship;

- Only the twelve region winning teams would be eligible to compete for the team championship;
- Each team competing for the team championship having five golfers participating and the top four scores counting for the team score;
- Each team competing for the team championship participating in both the first and second round with individual second round advancement based on adopted principles

OPTION 2 (affirm the February adoption)

- Cap the field at 144 golfers with each region's winning and runner-up team and the best four at-large players not on the region winning team;
- All 144 qualifying players would be eligible for the individual championship;
- Only the twelve region winning and runner-up teams would be eligible to compete for the team championship;
- Each team competing for the team championship having four golfers composing that team counting for the team score;
- Each team competing for the team championship having its four competitors selected by the coach from those four or five that competed in the region tournament;
- Determination of second-round advancement and play based on adopted principles

Minimal feedback had been received from the membership, but the vast majority of the feedback favored Option 1, a restoration of the five competitors with four counting scores and elimination of the runner-up teams.

Additionally, during legislative testimony in Frankfort before the Interim Joint Education Committee, four individuals testified about their displeasure with any change at all, but primarily with their displeasure of eliminating the fifth team participant on qualifying teams.

These individuals had previously appeared before the Board of Control in May. A majority of the feedback at that time compared the tournament structure with college, high level amateur and professional events and members of the Board must draw their own comparison to its relativity to this discussion.

Motion Passed: The Option 1, eliminating the runner-up team, be adopted with the following provisions:

- 1) Four or five players may be entered at the region level with the lowest four scores constituting a team score;
- 2) the winning team at the region qualifying for the state tournament with four to five golfers comprising a team at the state tournament with the lowest four scores comprising the team score and team substitution provisions remaining as they are in current rules;
- 3) that for 2019 and 2020, the next seven individual finishers not on the qualifying team advance to the state tournament;
- 4) that only the 12 qualifying regional winners are eligible for the team championship regardless of the number of individuals that qualify from a team at region play;
- 5) that pace of play, both from a length of the round and individual hole standards be a continued emphasis with staff reviewing with Kentucky Golf House the need for continual emphasis and the KHSAA producing in advance, additional hole by hole, pace of play guidance at the state championship;
- 6) that continual review be done of the alignment in golf to determine the options for increasing the number of regions as a means of enticing newer programs to be created and older ones expanded due to advancement opportunities as well as addressing region entry over-crowding issues;

- 7) that the regional advancement formula for individuals be reviewed after 2020 in the event of the need for adjustment in state qualifying based on region size for the future;
- 8) that following the 2020 tournament, any further adjustments be implemented with a process for continual review;
- 9) All twelve region qualifying teams will play both rounds of the state tournament; and
- 10) The top 42 individuals from the first day of play (plus any ties involving the 42nd position) passed with a motion by Jerry Wyman and a second by Donna Bumps.
