Live RED Staff Award

Congratulations to Mrs. Alicia Wallace for being the Live RED recipient for the month of February. Her nomination reads: “Living RED embodies the desire and drive for Reaching Excellence Daily. Alicia Wallace does that at SLES every day. Mrs. Wallace began a new chapter in her career during the 2018-2019 school year as school guidance counselor. She hit the ground running and continues that into this school year. She is always looking for ways to help students and staff and to improve the school. She teaches classes to all students in K-5 on topics such as good character traits, anti-bullying, substance abuse awareness, study habits/test-taking strategies, etc. She coordinates the school testing schedules and assists with data collection for Response to Intervention. She knows the heavy load teachers carry, so she tries to find ways to alleviate cumbersome paperwork and make it more user-friendly. She works with students to meet their needs in small groups or one-on-one. Mrs. Wallace deserves recognition and is a prime example of the Live RED mission.”

Family First & Cardinal Connection

Family First is striving to reach excellence daily by partnering with the elementary guidance counselors and other faculty/staff, to take our kindness at the elementary schools to a whole new level! Through projects, activities, and challenges, kindness will be the intentional focus February 10-14. However, our student body will not let it stop there, kindness is just a natural part of Living RED.

North Livingston

January Student Leaders of the Month are as follows:

KG: Samuel Montgomery

1st: Eden Crenshaw

2nd: Sadie Mull

3rd: Natalie Walker

4th: Jasmine Jackson

5th: Eli McDonald

5th: Cheyenne Williams

Congratulations to these scholars for going above and beyond expectations during the month of January!

On Tuesday, Feb. 4th, NLES celebrated 100 days of school. Some scholars dressed for the occasion by wearing apparel with 100 items on it or by dressing as a 100 year old person. KG in particular did some fun 100 day activities.

All scholars at NLES made Ms. Hazel Robertson of Salem birthday cards to help her celebrate her 100th birthday! This went along nicely with the 100 days celebrations.

On January 28th, a school safety assessment was completed at NLES by the Kentucky Center for School Safety. Overall, we had a good report with many commendations from the group as well as some recommendations that will be studied when we receive the full report in a few weeks.

Student Voice Surveys were administered to our 3rd, 4th and 5th graders the week of January 27th and are currently being reviewed with teachers.

7th Grade: Kaleigh Vallandingham and Brodie Biggers
8th Grade: Sydnie Wood and Skylar Padon

LCMS students won the high attendance award for the fifth month of the school year. We will celebrate on February 14th with popcorn and a movie in the gym.

LCMS faculty also won the high attendance award for the fifth month of the year. The faculty members were rewarded with drinks from Sonic.

South Livingston

The one hundredth day of school was celebrated on February 4th with a wide variety of counting activities. Students in Kindergarten dressed as their future 100 year old self and several students wore shirts embellished with 100 items.

The South Livingston Elementary Academic Team won 2nd in Quick Recall and 2nd overall during the Governor's Cup competition at Caldwell County on February 8th. SLES placed in every subject and will now proceed to regionals. They are coached by Mrs. Stacey Turner and Mrs. Traci Goss. We are proud of them all. (Not all are pictured.)

Students in grades 3-5 completed student voice surveys during the week of January 27-31. The results will be reviewed with teachers.
