Course Descriptions

CJ 101 Introduction to the Criminal Justice System

A critical assessment of the nature, operations, and processes of organizations providing criminal justice service in the United States. Organizations include the police, the criminal courts, and the correctional system.

CJ 215 Criminal Investigation

An examination of the techniques, ethical dilemmas, and significance of the lawful search for people and things useful in reconstructing an illegal act or omission.

CJ 200 Fundamentals of Homeland Security

This course offers a variety of conceptual tools and frameworks for students to think strategically about key issues in the contemporary homeland security environment. This course is intended to be an introductory level indoctrination to the homeland security arena and will lay the groundwork for those students wishing to pursue a career in the Homeland Security discipline.

CJ 232 Juvenile Justice in America

An examination of the processes, issues, emerging trends, research base, and special challenges of juvenile justice in the United States. The course covers the history and philosophy of juvenile justice, current practices for processing youthful offenders, the detention of juveniles, the diversion of youth from the juvenile justice system, and describes the jobs and problems of juvenile justice system practitioners.

Course Descriptions

CJ 235 Criminology

The systematic scientific study of the definitions, causes, correlates, extent, and societal responses to crime.

CJ 334 Introduction to Criminal Law

A concise yet comprehensive introduction to and exploration of the criminal law.
