RE: Prime Date Requirement Report

At your direction, I have continued monitoring the Prime Date Requirement for the 2020-2021 girls' basketball season. In comparison, the 2017-2018 season finished with 8-member schools out of compliance. In the 2019-2020 season, there were 12-member schools out of compliance. As of February 16, 2021, we have 67 schools currently out of compliance. This number is down from the January 2021 check of schools in noncompliance (84 schools). School will be notified the final week of the season about not meeting the requirement. As per Board of Control action in their July meeting, there will not be penalties for the 2020-21 season. Member schools will still be notified so they can plan accordingly for future years.
