Lesson Plans

Students will be attending the Stage One presentation of Dragons Love Tacos written by Adam Rubin. Prior to attending the play, students will be reading the book and reviewing how we analyze the text for story elements (RL.1.3), a skill previously taught, and how we use these elements to help deepen our understanding of text and characters. We will also use this opportunity to expose students to dramas in order to compare the difference between stories, dramas, and poems (RL.1.5). At lunch, students will engage in appropriate social activities in order to reinforce the social skills being taught through the Second Steps Program. Leading up to the trip, teachers will spend time teaching the proper discourse for the setting while also incorporating character education lessons around respect.
