I have attached the comments I was planning to deliver in person at the meeting on January 11. This issue is NOT going away! A group of concerned citizens is forming to monitor your behavior.

Sincerely,

Nelson L. Dawson

JCPS and Ideological Indoctrination

Last July, the College Fix, an Internet site which monitors political indoctrination in education, reported that JCPS was planning to host a “year-long mathematics training program for teachers,” which is designed to “eliminate curricular violence and innovate mathematics education” through “anti-bias, anti-racist, and racially equitable practices.”

The absurdity of this initiative should be evident to everybody except leftist political activists. Although I was concerned about this report, I did not accept it at face value. Therefore, I asked Dr. Pollio about it. I sent him two letters expressing my concern and asking him if the report was true. I did not receive any answer. Then I sent the district three schoolboard member two letters and two emails. Since once again, I received no answer. I can only interpret this deliberate refusal to answer a simple question as an indication that JCPS may have something to hide.

In fact, this stonewalling makes me suspicious that there may be an even broader concern beyond the math issue involved. Critical Race Theory is an extremist ideology which is intended to divide Americans along racial lines. It has been adopted by school systems throughout the country and is also being protested by concerned parents throughout the county. Every minute spent on ideological indoctrination is a minute not spent on the core subjects which prepare students to succeed in life.

So where does JCPS stand regarding ideological indoctrination?

Jefferson County taxpayers and parents deserve an honest answer.

I have a question. If we are so short of teachers why can you not suspend all extra curriculum activities such as choir, band, p.e. Etc. Then use those teachers in other classes in order to keep kids in school. This NTI is ridiculous, most kids are not learning from this. Please consider this and remember we are praying for you all. Good luck and God Bless.

Shame on you JCPS, how can you call "Snow Day" with no snow?
NTI is a joke. Kids can't learn at home when there is no one at home making them log in! Duh!
