Head Start must work to develop an interagency agreement with the School District to improve service delivery to children eligible for services under the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act (IDEA), including the referral and evaluation process, service coordination, promotion of service provision in the least restrictive environment, and transition services as children move from services provided under Part C of IDEA to services provided under Part B of IDEA and from preschool to kindergarten (45 CFR, Part 1302.63); and

School District must work with Head Start to avoid duplication of programs and services, avoid supplanting federal funds, and maximize Head Start funds in order to serve as many four-year-old children as possible (KRS 157.3175); and

* Note – Please be advised that Head Start in the following plan will refer to all OVEC Head Start and Early Head Start programs, unless otherwise noted.

Eligibility, Recruitment, Selection, Enrollment, Attendance

1302.12

Eligibility

Head Start eligibility is based on age, income and area served. OVEC Head Start programs determine eligibility at the time of application. All documents examined to determine eligibility are maintained as part of the eligibility determination record as required by Head Start standards.

Age eligibility: Head Start standards state that a child must be at least 3 years of age or turn three years old by the date used to determine eligibility for public school to be age eligible for Head Start. Age eligibility is verified by examining documents such as birth certificates, immunization records, immigration paperwork or passports. The program does not require age verification documents to be collected by staff if doing creates a barrier to the child's enrollment into the program. Children who turn three after the school cut-off date can be served after their third birthday only if there are no income eligible and age eligible children on the waiting list for their community.

The Head Start standards state that, except when a child is transitioning to Head Start, a child must be an infant or toddler younger than 3 years old to be eligible for Early Head Start. Age eligibility of children is verified by examining documents such as birth certificates, immunization records, immigration paperwork or passports. The program does not require age verification documents to be collected by staff if doing so creates a barrier to the child's enrollment. Communities offering 0-5 programming, through both Early Head Start and Head Start options will have some flexibility in determining placement and transition of children in order to best serve their individual development and social/emotional needs.

Categorical eligibility is granted, according to Head Start Performance Standards and the Head Start Reauthorization Act of 2007, to children in foster care and children from families experiencing homelessness (according to the definition in the McKinney- Vento Homeless Assistance Act, 42 U.S.C11434a(2)). Families who meet the categorical eligibility requirements do not have to meet income guidelines. Verification is needed that they meet the categorical eligibility requirements.

Income eligibility: A child is income eligible if the family income is equal to or below the federal poverty guidelines or the family is eligible for public assistance (TANF or SSI). If a family is eligible for public assistance, verification is needed of the TANF or SSI benefits the family receives. In all other cases, a family's total gross income for the last 12 months or the last calendar year is used to determine income eligibility, whichever is a more accurate reflection of the family at the time of application. Income is verified according to the Head Start standards and staff work with families to obtain the needed documentation. If a family can demonstrate a significant change in income from the last 12 months or last calendar year's income, staff may consider current family circumstances to determine eligibility.

Eligibility duration: If a child is determined eligible and is participating in the Early Head Start program, the child will maintain that status until he/she ages out of Early Head Start.

If a child is determined eligible and is participating in a Head Start program, he or she will remain eligible through the end of the succeeding program year. If the child is enrolled in Head Start after his or her third birthday but was not three by the school cut-off date and returns for a third year of Head Start programming, a new application must be completed and income eligibility must be re-verified. If a child is dis-enrolled from either program, regardless of reason, for over 30 days, a new application must be completed and income re-verified to be considered for re-enrollment.

Children transitioning from a OVEC Early Head Start Child Care Partnership placement or from Early Head Start into a Head Start placement must fill out a new application and re-verify income eligibility. Applicants that were not selected during the program year and remained on the waiting list and are still age eligible for Head Start services, must fill out a new application and renew income eligibility for the following program year. Early Head Start applications not selected for enrollment are valid for the program year for which they were originally taken. A new application is needed and income must be re-verified for the succeeding program year.

In accordance with the Head Start Reauthorization Act of 2007, families with income between 101% and 130% of the federal poverty guidelines may be serviced, not exceeding 35% of enrollment opportunities. These applications are selected only after all age and income eligible families have been enrolled in order to maintain full program enrollment.

Over Income Placements: At minimum, 90% of the families enrolled in the Early Head Start and Head Start programs must be categorically or income eligible according to Head Start Performance Standards. Programs may have up to 10% of their funded enrollment be over income placements. These limited numbers of slots are filled on an individual basis based on need and allow the program to provide services to children with diagnosed disabilities, children affected by special circumstances and children referred by community partners. In some communities, over income applicants may be accepted if there are no income or age eligible children on the waiting list, enrollment slots are still available and the program still has not reached the 10% limit for the program year.

If a family is determined to be over income at the time of application but has a significant change in family income or circumstance during the program year, eligibility can be re-determined based on verification of the new circumstance and/or income. Additionally, children enrolled as over income placements must reapply annually and income must be re-verified for the succeeding program year in order to make sure that families with the highest need are being served. Children enrolled as over-income placements will not automatically roll over to the next program year.

Violations of eligibility determination regulations: OVEC Head Start staff who intentionally violate Federal and program eligibility determination regulations will be subject to action as outlined in the agency's Personnel Policies Handbook. The handbook states that "Falsifying information supplied to OVEC including information on application forms” and “dishonesty, neglect of duty, incompetence, inefficiency or insubordination” may result in “disciplinary action, including dismissal”.

Families or program participants intentionally providing or attempting to provide false information used to determine program eligibility may be subject to actions affecting their family’s participation in the program.

1302.12(m)

Staff Training: All OVEC Head Start staff who complete interviews and applications with families and who determine eligibility will be trained annually on the Head Start standards as well as the program’s policies and procedures regarding eligibility determination and verification. New staff who will be responsible for determining eligibility, will receive training as part of their orientation into the program and within 90 days of hiring. This training will include interview and application completion, definitions of applicable terms as outlined in H.S 1302.12 (m), verification of age, categorical and income eligibility, accurate eligibility record keeping and the consequences of intentionally violating federal and program policies and procedures.

Recruitment

Recruitment is ongoing throughout the program year. Recruitment information is distributed throughout the community via flyers, mailings, attending community meetings and events, public school registrations, newspapers, public announcements, canvassing of neighborhoods, and word-of-mouth. Applications are taken at scheduled registration sites, office appointments, and home visits to best meet the needs of families. Each year, recruitment focuses in the communities within our designated service area with the greatest need as identified by the program’s Community Assessment and to reflect program changes. Our designated Head Start service areas include the counties of Bullitt, Gallatin, Henry, Jefferson, Oldham, Owen, Shelby, Spencer and Trimble counties. This year’s Early Head Start recruitment efforts will include the counties of Bullitt, Gallatin, Henry and Shelby Counties and will additionally be focused in the counties of Franklin, Jefferson, Owen and Spencer as we build awareness of new Early Head Start Child Care Partnership programming in those communities.

Recruitment of children with disabilities is done according to the program Disabilities Plan and through agreements with local school districts. The Preschool Disabilities Consultants, Family Services staff and ERSEA Team work closely together to meet the 10% disability requirement.

Selection

1302.14

Selection is the formal process for considering all eligible applicants and selecting children and their families into the program. Head Start requires that programs select children and families who have the greatest need based on selection criteria. Each program creates selection criteria based on the needs of the community they serve using information from their community assessment, PIR and other demographic information.

The OVEC Head Start selection criteria are separated into 2 groups: priority selection and weighted need selection. Children and families meeting the priority selection criteria will be selected for services immediately, if openings are available, or go to the top of the waiting list if there are no current openings. It is the responsibility of the ERSEA Team to monitor enrollment at all centers to determine when a vacancy exists, and to fill vacancies from the center waiting list.

Priority Selections:

- Income/Categorical eligible applicants with a documented disability (IEP or IFSP in place)
- Public Assistance Children
- Foster children
- Homeless children and families (as defined by McKinney-Vento)
- Income eligible transfers from another Head Start program with documentation
- Income eligible EHS participant transitioning into Head Start
- Expecting Teen Mom

OVEC Head Start reserves the right to not select a priority applicant, if alternative and appropriate area services are available and will better serve the applicant and his/her family. Staff will refer applicants to appropriate services and may assist families in obtaining access to those services.

Weighted Need Selection:

The weighted needs selection criteria incorporate the child's age, family income and needs assessment based on specifications within the grant as well as the needs of the community as identified by the program's Community Assessment. These criteria are modified yearly, as needed, and any changes are presented to the Policy Council annually for input and approval.

In our Early Head Start programs, the youngest applicants (birth to 12 months) will have priority over applicants nearing their 3rd birthday. Likewise in our Head Start program, children who are 3 years old by the school cut-off date will have priority over children who are 4 years old by that date, per our full-utilization agreements with KERA preschool school districts. This allows the program to insure children are prepared for the upcoming transition to preschool at age 4. In the event, a family chooses to keep their income/categorically eligible Head Start child in Head Start as a 4 year old rather than transition on to preschool and/or a Head Start child is denied acceptance to preschool, OVEC Head Start will work with family to keep child enrolled in Head Start a second year. This will ensure that child has continuous services until he/she is able to transition to kindergarten.

Priority for applicants whose families earn income in the lowest poverty level ranges is given per federal Head Start Performance Standards. Applicants living with guardians other than their biological parents are given priority over those stemming from single-parent or two parent homes. Applicants with diagnosed or suspected disabilities as determined by the OVEC Head Start Disabilities Consultants also receive additional points over a child with no disabilities. Last but not least, additional risk factors are considered for each applicant. These can include those with a social service referral, documented case of abuse/neglect, family crisis – incarceration, recent death or terminal illness of parent/guardian, age of applicant’s parent (teen parent), and current/past participation in HS/EHS program. Families with multiple risk factors would receive priority over those families with just one risk factor.

For Early Head Start/Head Start classrooms with wrap around childcare, priority is given for working parents and/or parents who are in school/training per our grant and federal Head Start Performance Standards.

Our Early Head Start Child Care Partnership classrooms additionally give priority to those families who participate in the state childcare subsidy program per requirement of the grant award.

Our Jefferson County Head Start/Early Head Start classrooms also give priority to those families who participate in the state childcare subsidy program per the grant award.

Our Early Head Start Prenatal Program has primarily served expecting teen mothers as a result of findings from our Community Assessment and collaborative partnerships with local high schools. Priority for applicants whose families earn income in the lowest poverty level ranges is given per federal Head Start Performance Standards. Expecting mothers in their first trimester are given priority over those in their third trimester. Last but not least, additional risk factors are considered for each applicant. These can include those with a social service referral, documented case of abuse/neglect, family crisis – incarceration, recent death or terminal illness of parent/guardian, inadequate prenatal care, high risk pregnancy, or alcohol/substance abuse issues. Families with multiple risk factors would receive priority over those families with just one risk factor.

Selections for part-year programming:

Once the current school year ends, staff begins to review applications for the following program year. Initial acceptances are made following the priority and weighted selection criteria described above. Selection and acceptances continue throughout the summer to allow consideration of new applications received with high levels of need. All vacancies are filled before the beginning of the new school year.

The waiting list is updated throughout the year with ongoing recruitment and new applications. Openings are filled during the program year according to the priority and weighted selection criteria.

Selections for classrooms with wrap around childcare:

Applicants applying for Head Start services with wrap around childcare are kept on separate waiting lists at the centers that provide that program option. Waiting lists are accessed as openings occur. Applications are ranked according to need, according to the priority and weighted selection criteria. Vacancies are filled as soon as possible and within 30 days using the selection criteria.

Selections for Early Head Start:

Early Head Start Center-based programs maintain separate waiting lists and select participants according to the priority and weighted selection criteria as openings occur.

We rarely have a waitlist for our Prenatal Program, but in that rare case, that program would maintain a separate waiting list and select participants according to the priority and weighted selection criteria as openings occur.

Enrollment

Enrollment is the official acceptance of a family by a Head Start program and the completion of all procedures necessary for a child and family to begin receiving services.

When accepted, the participant receives a welcome letter with information about the start of the program year and any necessary health requirements. The participant is also given program contact information in case they have any additional questions.

Some communities have health screening days during the summer, where incoming children have required health screenings completed and families begin the enrollment process by completing health and nutrition paperwork. If a child has a health condition which requires obtaining signatures or information from their physician, staff works to complete these before the start of school to avoid any delay in the child's entry into the program.

Prior to the school year start date, the participant is contacted by classroom staff to schedule an initial home visit to complete all necessary enrollment paperwork and to start the process of building a relationship with the child and family and plan for the child's transition into the program.

The program maintains funded enrollment levels. Vacancies are filled as soon as possible according to the priority and weighted selection criteria as openings occur. The ERSEA Team reports enrollment levels monthly to the Office of Head Start. The program may elect not to fill a vacancy when 30 calendar days or less remain in the program's school year.

Attendance

Attendance for center based programs is tracked through the use of the ChildPlus data tracking system. Staff enter children's daily attendance into ChildPlus for tracking purposes. Family Service Staff pull attendance reports monthly and follow up with staff on families with percentages lower than 85%. The ERSEA Team also follows up on attendance as part of the monitoring process and attendance percentages for each center are reviewed at monthly site meetings with all center staff.

Center staff is required to track attendance to maintain a minimum of 85% attendance. Staff must contact families and document reasons for any absences within one hour of start time. Attendance forms are used to accurately track attendance and to assure accurate billing and reimbursement from Kentucky's Childcare Subsidy Program and CACFP. Following Head Start regulations, there are some circumstances when a child is not in attendance in the classroom, but is still counted as attending for tracking purposes. These include when a child is attending special education evaluations/meetings, receiving special education services through an IEP or IFSP and receiving required medical or dental care. Teachers and family service staff encourage regular attendance through parent education on the value of consistency as it affects child learning and social emotional development. Parents are asked to call the center if children are absent. Direct contact or a home visit is made by staff after two consecutive absences.

Staff works with families to identify and reduce barriers to regular attendance and form partnership agreements to address chronic unexcused absences including signing attendance contracts. If absenteeism rates cannot be improved, and no special conditions are present (i.e. chronic illness), a child may be withdrawn from the program.

The program is committed to working with families to address specific and individual needs which may affect attendance. When a shared custody plan or non-custodial parent visitation schedule is in place, staff will obtain a copy for the child's file and work closely with both parents to insure attendance concerns are addressed while supporting the court orders in place. Decisions on service delivery will be made on a case by case basis.

The program also works with families who experience family emergencies, extended illness or who wish to take time away for extended family visits out of the area. If a family notifies the program the dates the child will be away and gives a specific date of return and the child will be away less than a month, the program will hold the child's spot and document the reasons for the child's absence. If the family does not know the length of the absence, the absence is over a month in length or the family does not return on the scheduled date, the staff will work with the ERSEA Team and Family Services staff to determine next steps.
