This program focuses on the developmental stages that children progress through when learning about the relationship between multiplication and division. A strong foundation for multiplicative thinking is necessary because when rational numbers are introduced (fractions and decimals) it is essential that students have a strong foundation in place so they can make connections and expand their knowledge.  |

This intervention program takes teachers on a mathematical journey from the first day of kindergarten to the beginning of third grade. The program is designed to find the deficits that students have within state standards and provide teachers with the resources that are needed for an intense math intervention. Teachers will learn how to administer and use assessment data to target their instruction and use the research based CRA Instructional Model. |
