NKCES Team Meeting, June 5: Executive Director Amy Razor led the monthly team meeting, which focuses on the mission and core values of NKCES! The time spent together building our human capacity is incredible and a highlight each month as our team works together. This month we reflected on a successful year filled with growth, learning, and new partnerships.

Executive Director Amy Razor invited special guest and friend, Tamara Lindholm, INspired Leadership trainer to lead a day and a half training. The training was so well received many superintendents followed up with their 1:1 with Tamara and a few superintendents invited her back to Kentucky to lead their leadership retreats. It's always so fulfilling to see districts putting their learning into action!

NKCES Deeper Learning Summit, June 14-15: NKCES hosted our first Deeper Learning Summit this summer, which was wildly successful! The location, presenters, and Commissioner Glass all made this event so special. The NKCES Team worked incredibly hard to make this an event to remember and based on the feedback and requests for an event like this in the future, we are thrilled with the outcomes!

Working Genius model as well as introduced INspired Leadership as Tamara Lindholm will join the entire NKCES in September for our team retreat.

KSBA Conference, July 14: Executive Director Amy Razor attended the KSBA conference, not only as a participant, but as a presenter. Ms. Razor along with Ms. Jessica Pass led a breakout session on retraining teacher talent. The session was packed with participants as this topic is so timely and critical for the districts in our state.

The other topic of discussion was the MOU with NKYEC. There was great discussion that ended with positive outcomes.

Tales of Transformation, July 18: Districts around the state prepared deeper learning presentations with experiences that can be replicated in districts, schools, and classrooms. Commissioner Jason Glass and KBE chair, Dr. Lu Young kicked off the event and provided a Q & A session for participants. The day provided highlights from our local districts as well as learning from educators from all cooperatives. All sessions were virtual so that learning could happen from anywhere and participants could grow from colleagues throughout the state. It was an exceptional day of learning and growing statewide!

We have filled some of our positions and are continuing to interview and recruit for our remaining openings.

RSP rebranded the names of the three programs to align with the message and services we want our students, families, and district partners to experience.

Aligning with our “RSP” acronym as well, please celebrate our new program names:

- Restore Program (formerly our Phoenix Program)
- Success Academy (formerly our Learning Academy)
- Pathways Program (formerly our Challenge Program)

RSP’s first day back with students is August 16, 2023.
