

November Staff Recognition

EHS - Energize People

Alfredo Silva

“Mr. Silva is a great example of what it means to Energize People! Whether it's through his work in the classroom or on the football field, Mr. Silva understands the power of relationships and accountability. Mr. Silva holds high expectations for his students and athletes in regards to their preparation, engagement, and ownership of their journey. Furthermore, he stands ready to engage with and support anyone willing to put in the work necessary to reach their goals. We are fortunate to have Senor Silva as part of our Panther Family and know that he will continue to inspire and support the next generation of community leaders through his passion for people.” - Ben Monnett

TKS - Empower Excellence

Michael Betts

“Michael Betts has a special knack for seeing the potential for excellence in every student. He goes above and beyond to instill each student with confidence while emphasizing the importance of giving your best effort. He takes pride in the work he does at T. K. Stone and models excellence for our students. He is always behind the scenes supporting students and staff in ways that often go unrecognized. We see you, Mr. Betts!” - Hope Janes

MES - Teach for Learning

Rachelle Wardrip

“Mrs. Wardrip has made an impact on student learning from the day she came to MES. Her passion for Social Studies content is contagious and all of her students have caught it! She makes history come alive and gives her students hands-on, experience-based learning opportunities that help them grasp and comprehend the content. If you visit her classroom you will see her students engaged in discussion and connecting concepts to their own lives. Her ability to teach so that all of her students learn is amazing!” - Heather Goodman

HHES - Accelerate and Grow

Sara Ingram

"Over the past two years I have received countless compliments from staff, parents, and community members on the Helmwood Heights Facebook page. I quickly defer to and give the credit to Mrs. Ingram who is a creative genius. Her ideas and marketing of our school is a testament to her love for Helmwood Heights. I am blessed beyond measure to have her on the team." - Mr. Aaron Howell

PA - Value Stewardship

Amy Truitt

“Amy Truitt is Panther Academy's November ELEVATE staff recognition for valuing stewardship. Her job title is school library media specialist, but her responsibilities extend way beyond that title. You never know if she is serving as the enrichment teacher, interventionist, special area or ARC chair throughout the day each day! Not only does Amy Truitt wear several hats in the building, she also does all that she can to help the staff have the resources they need to help their students learn. She ensures that the library is well-stocked with resources to supplement the curriculum. After our first book fair this year, she used Scholastic book fair funds to help the teachers get an organizer to help with the organization of Illustrative Math materials. Amy strives to find ways to stretch our funds and get the most bang for our buck! She exemplifies valuing stewardship in our school.” - Carla Kuhn

Valley View/GlenDale/Transportation - Lead with Tradition

Kim Jones

“Kim Jones has been a dedicated and positive leader to the students and staff of EIS for many years. She is charged with the daily duty of leading a large department and ensuring safe travel for EIS’s most precious cargo. Kim’s leadership invaluable.” - Travis Gay

NUTRITION SERVICES - Engage with Our Community

Luz Corchado

“Luz has brought a breath of fresh air into our kitchen this year. Not only is she settling in and making it her own but she is reaching out and fostering connections with her team, students and staff members. Promoting a healthy work environment built on respect, teamwork and making sure her team knows that they are a most valuable asset to our community and the children we feed.” - Marty Adams
