

EHS Student of the Month – February 2024

The EHS student of the month for February is Connor Lynch. Connor is a senior at EHS and is an excellent student and person who sets a fine example for his peers. He is a model student with respect to attitude and character and he exemplifies “What Excellence Looks Like”. Connor has maintained a perfect 4.0 GPA at EHS while taking numerous honors, AP, and dual credit classes, accruing more than 22 college credit hours. Connor has a quiet confidence, and he enables all those with whom he comes in contact to feel at ease. He has a great sense of humor and is mature and compassionate. He is also an extremely considerate human being. Connor is able to get along with everyone equally well.

While at EHS, Connor has been involved in the following activities:

- EHS Football - all 4 years
- EHS Tennis - all 4 years
- EHS Beta Club - senior year
- For the 23/24 school year, Connor participates in our Business Coop Program. Students in our Coop programs spend at least 2 hours per day at a local business learning about various job responsibilities in their respective fields. Connor began the school year at Baptist Health Physical Therapy, then transitioned to KORT Physical Therapy, and just recently changed to Ruffle Girl, where he has been employed since February 2022.

After high school, Connor plans to attend the University of Kentucky to major in Biology with an undecided career path.

Here are some comments from his teachers:

Tom McGovern (Anatomy & Physiology Teacher): Connor does high quality work all the time. He also takes time to learn the material and not just rush through to complete the assignment.

Jennifer Thomas (College Algebra Teacher): Connor is highly proficient at College Algebra, extremely quick to pick up abstract concepts.

Alfredo Silva (Football Coach): Connor Lynch is a great student of the game of football. What he was deficient in size and strength, he made up with his cerebral approach to the game. Always a team first guy and a joy to have on the football team. Congratulations and good luck in the future!

Jo Anna Breunig (English Teacher): As a student in my dual credit ENG 101 class, Connor first came across as a softer-spoken, serious young man, but as the trimester progressed, I learned a little more about his witty sense of humor and his desire to help others in the field of physical therapy. In some ways, I think Connor has a more mature outlook than some of his peers; for example, in his college application essay, he reflected on a personal attribute that had affected his tennis game, and I thought it was impressive that he had the insight to recognize this particular quality about himself. He strikes me as being a fine, upstanding young man who is of great character and who has great taste in music.

Congratulations to Connor on being the EHS Student of the Month!

EHS is proud to recognize Connor Lynch as the February Student of the Month.
