History/Background:

Summer basketball is an opportunity for teams to grow and develop through sharpening skills necessary to reach a higher level of performance. Sports City U is a state of the art facility in WV that uses years of experience, data, and the newest technology to assist players in developing a superior offensive game. Jim Clayton, owner and coach at Sports City, has decades of experience and has worked with Michael Jordan during the 1990s as his shooting coach. This facility, training experience, and instruction is a wonderful opportunity to allow our team access to the newest in sports innovation while providing priceless information that we can bring back to Floyd Central Basketball.
