Teachers at my school frequently recognize students for good behavior.

30 responses

If you disagree with the above statement, please provide details to best help us correct this area of our school culture.

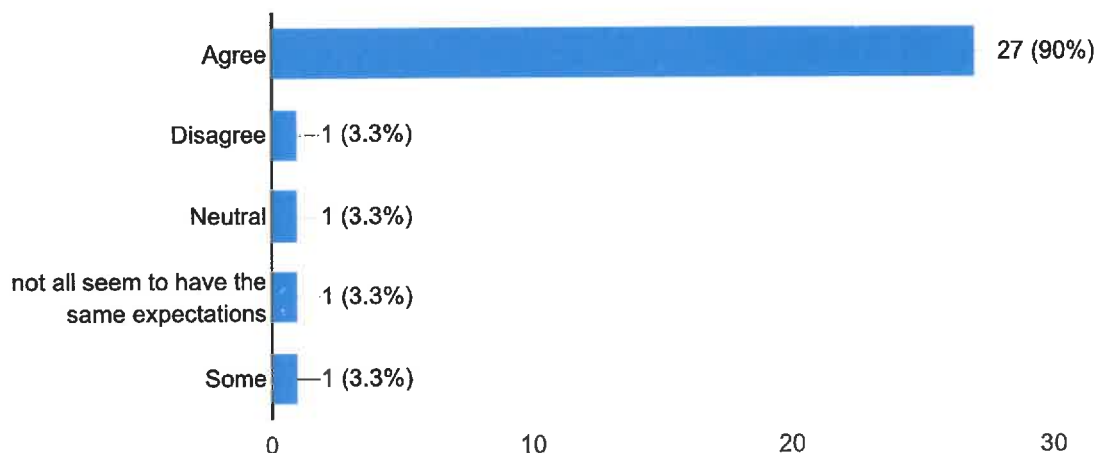

1 response

When PBIS was first implemented, I think we did. But now, I think we focus a lot more on academic awards and while there is some recognition for behavior, its not advertised as much as academic.

Teachers at my school have high behavior expectations

2 responses

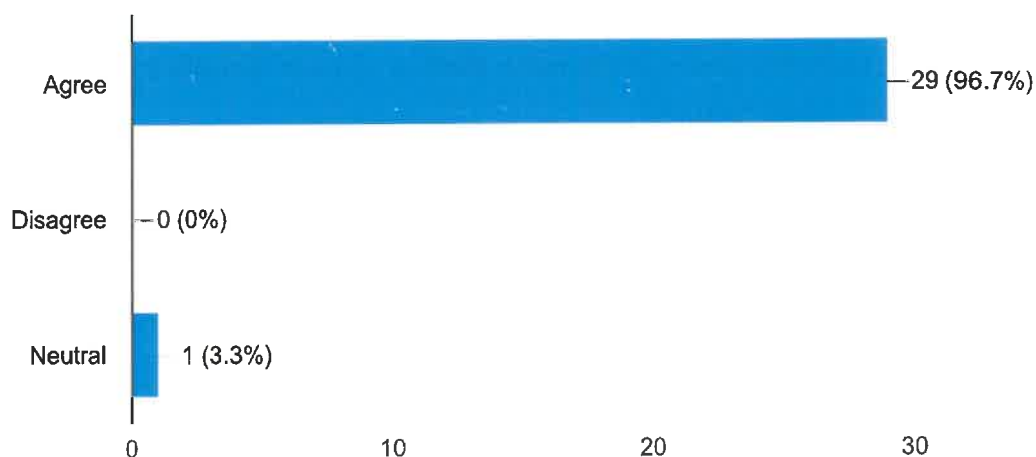

not all seem to have the same expectations - classroom and hallway behavior, wearing hats and hoodies during school day?

I think some younger teachers need some training to be able to add more behavior skills to their toolbox.

Teachers at my school have high standards for academic achievement.

SURVEY QUESTIONS - Physical Environment

My building is well-maintained.

30 responses

If you disagree with the above statement, please provide details to best help us correct this area of our school culture.

4 responses

many areas have declined in appearance and function (floors, paint, ceiling tiles missing, dirty air filters, heat/cool units in ceiling are filthy); my classroom floor looks dirty and scuffed and hasn't looked stripped, cleaned or waxed properly in a few years. Sorry

Water fountains don't always work the best, especially the bottle filler portion of the fountain.

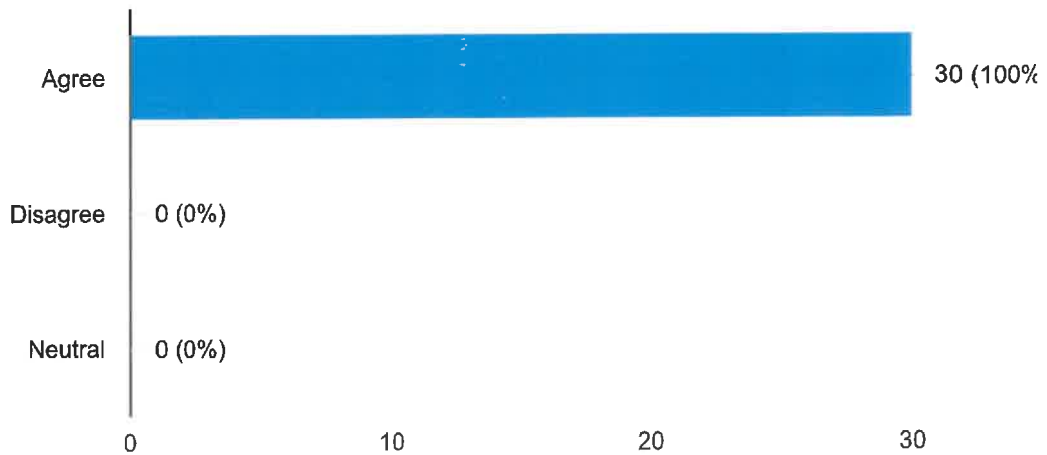

Several ceiling tiles need to be replaced, floors in classrooms still looked dingy at the beginning of school, air conditioners/filters need to be cleaned more frequently and checked for mold, many concerns may be above our custodians and be more maintenance concerns

It is getting better

Instructional materials are up to date and in good condition.

Students at my school demonstrate behaviors that allow teachers to teach, and students to learn.

30 responses

If you disagree with the above statement, please provide details to best help us correct this area of our school culture.

1 response

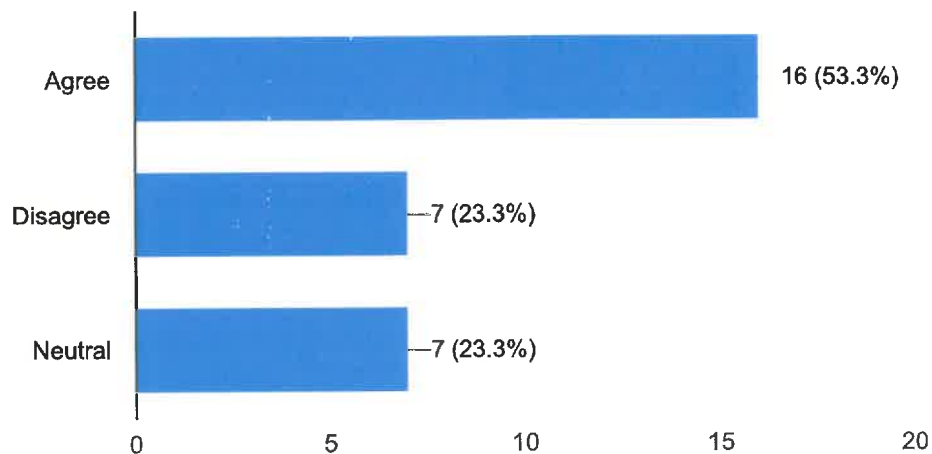

Most students do demonstrate behaviors that allow teachers to teach and students to learn. There are a few that demonstrate behaviors that cause many reminders and it does take away from class time to reteach/redirect/correct behavior.

SURVEY QUESTIONS - Parent Involvement

Parents at my school attend PTO meetings /PTO events

30 responses

If you disagree with the above statement, please provide details to best help us correct this area of our school culture.

6 responses

There are a few parents that attend PTO meetings. Not many.

I never see alot of parents at our PTO meetings. Maybe the time has something to do with it since it's early in the afternoon but it seems to be mostly staff and a small handful of other parents.

A few do, but less than 10 usually attend the meeting.

It's normally the same few parents who attend these meetings.

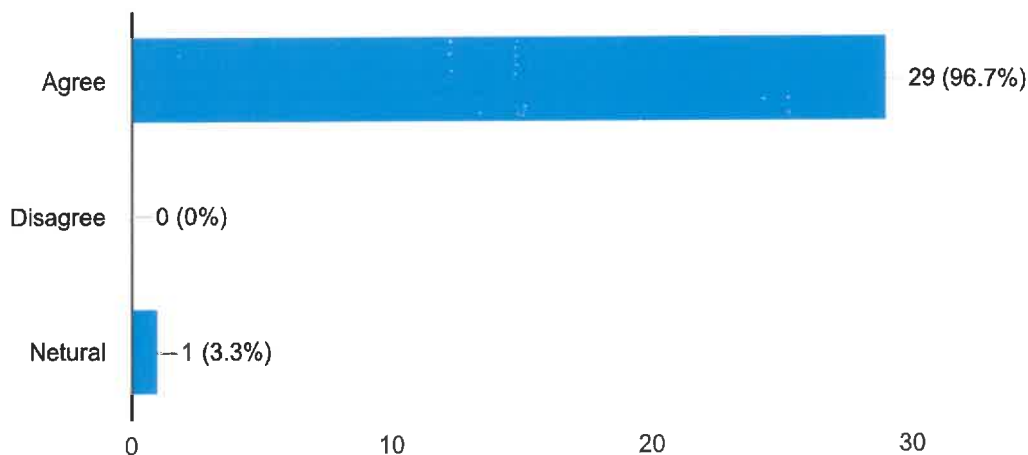

Parents aren't part of the meetings but do participate in the events

They do not attend PTO meetings as much, but events are attended

Parents at my school attend Parent Teacher Conferences

30 responses

If you disagree with the above statement, please provide details to best help us correct this area of our school culture.

1 response

Some opt for the phone conference, but most parents will attempt a conference with their child's teacher.

Additional feedback or comments you would like to provide to improve our school culture.

3 responses

I have concerns about something that I feel is hurting morale among teachers, the observations and email to the complete team. I feel like this is creating hurt feelings and feelings of inadequacy in teachers. If a teacher is having an issue, I think it should be handled privately and not shared and pointed out among others.

This year I was able to have a Parent Conference with every student/parent.

I think we have a great culture and climate at STES.
