			Girls	4	Good team spirit with good coaches
			Both	4	I think that our coaches did a great job of supporting and playing every student, teaching fundamentals, and making it fun! There was definite improvement from the beginning of the season.

			Boys	3	Our family appreciates the availability to play basketball in our school that is so close to home. The location of away games felt much better this year compared to last. We also appreciate the communication from the AD this year. That felt consistent and reliable.

One huge difficulty for us was that basketball practices overlapped with Academic Team practices. I know that this cannot always be avoided, but it was a challenge. I think the hardest thing for our students was playing in leagues with older children, which can cause them to feel defeated and frustrated pretty quickly. I know that this is hard to avoid, and that next year hopefully we will be on the older end for our leagues and enjoy some of those benefits.	4	Unsure	Yes		Yes
My only other thought for improvement is to evaluate the parent volunteer needs. I am not sure if we should charge more money so that we can hire people to work concessions, work the clock, etc. I do NOT mind doing it, but feel that it is often the same people doing ALL of the volunteering. I feel so bad for Beau when I read the desperate pleas for volunteers, but I also volunteer at the school a lot with APTA, Art Discovery, Cub Scouts, etc., so it is hard for me to always jump when more volunteers are needed, especially for games that my children are not playing in.	5	Yes	Yes	I think that our coaches do an outstanding job of both teaching fundamentals as well as guiding the kids through all of the emotions when they don't agree with a call, or when we have a tough loss. We played against some teams with some very aggressive coaches this year, and it made me VERY PROUD of the coaches we have at Anchorage. They carried themselves with respect and the knowledge that this is just a game.	Yes
Coach communication. 1) Our son was consistently beaten down. At one point we wondered if the coaches were trying to weed him out of the program. Early January my husband met with the assistant coach. He asked for a "report card" on how our child was doing. He shared that our child had a completely broken spirit over basketball and that we would take the feedback given to us and work on those things with our son and we wouldn't be back this season. He talked with the head coach and they reached out to us, thanked us for the feedback and asked for another chance. We agreed but not much changed. There are about 2-3 boys that don't pay attention and need constant correction. Instead of correcting THOSE kids, ALL of the players receive the punishment. 2) Our team snap was full of questions all the time. From, times to color of uniform. We always had to ask. If they had given us the information we wouldn't have to constantly ask.
A & B team. This grade desperately needs 2 teams. There are 5 players that are favored and they play 75% of the game. There is no way other players can learn if they aren't allowed to play. Our son played in another league this year and the difference was night and day. The coaches were encouraging and taught the game and skills needed to play. Our APS coaches (previous years and this year) have not taught the game. They condition the kids and have favorite players that dominate play time. What this creates is a social divide. The favored kids then pick on the non favored kids at recess. They band together and put down the other kids. This isn't sportsmanship or team mindset. Yet they still get all of the play time.	1	No	No	Less drills. More skills.	No
Practice shirts. We miss the practice shirts that teams used to get. Our team purchased sweatshirts from an outside vendor this year so we would have a team shirt.

			Boys	1	Our experience was horrible b/c of lack of communication, planning and consistency. We have had an older child go through APS Basketball before and it was run much more efficiently. We never got to play at Anchorage school for any games. We never had any space to practice (not sure why we didn't split the gym with the dividers we bought years ago). We never put the little kids in the small gym so the bigger kids felt like they were part of the school. Middle school kids are minimized, while elementary kids are the center stage. I don't know if we will play again.

Scheduling, organization and communication.	1	No	No	We need a culture rebuilt of what teamwork is and why it matters. We are a team on the court, we are a team off the court. When I picked up my son from a scrimmage and it had to be stopped because the 6th and 7th graders were physically fighting on the court – WE HAVE A HUGE PROBLEM AT ANCHORAGE. This is unacceptable and should have called all of the coaches together to fix it, not dust it under the rug. Sports has the special power of teaching a layer of resilience and empathy at the same time – I never saw this. I have also been told by my son that "the kids at school said the coach hates me". This is completely unacceptable.	No

1	No	No	There were certain players that got little to no playing time every single game. They also got excluded from drills during practice and learning play calls. All players regardless of skill set should be included. If your daughter wasn't one of the top players they actually had very little time during the entire season playing basketball. Extremely disappointing and disappointed in the way Anchorage represented themselves. The handbook "rules" were totally disregarded week after week and it seemed as if admin did little to correct. 		Maybe	Definitely need to announce the coach and practice times before committing! We do other sports and the practices fell at the same time as travel sport. Glad they offered Sunday, but was penalized because he didn't make most. I don't think he should start the games or maybe not even go in the first 2 quarters. But if you are up by 13-25 points, it is time to rotate players! Being put in for the last 58 seconds in 4th period is not acceptable. If that does happen, the coach needs to talk to the kid. Have a conversation, instead of him feeling bad and lowering his self esteem. But who I felt bad for the most is the kids that were going to all the practices and still didn't play much. Everyone needs to read Coach Rick's playbook from soccer, he plays everyone and understands every parent and kid is trying to make all of their commitments. He Makes it fun until it's tournament time then we are trying to win.

		Boys	4	A good number of games. The league seemed good for our level of play. They allowed players flexibility for attending practices due to other sports.	This is a large class, we should not allow players from younger grades to play in games. If there is a need for additional players, borrow from the other team. The team is already large and playing time can be less as a result of the large size.

	Unsure	Maybe	One of the most disappointing years since we have been here at APS. Hard to make many practices due to conflicting schedules and practices being later time in evening this year. And only able to make a few games of the few games over the weekends. The few practices we made were light on instruction and scrimmage. We expected to play less than other players but not to be so penalized to be put in last for 1 minute remaining when you are winning by 20 is embarrassing and totally demoralizes a kid. I feel for the kids that made most practices and barely see any playing time. After a few of these it is understandable that our child decided not to show up and play anymore as the "love" for the game was taken away. It would have helped if a coach would have talked or discussed the reasons but not once did they ever attempt. This team had a good amount of favoritism. We need and appreciate coaches volunteering their time and effort but when everyone is subbed out except certain kids. I am hopeful we can get Andy Almond and Curt Grahm back for the next couple years. Sixth grade basketball should be fun and something all the boys want to do and play with their buddies. Maybe they can form 2 teams like 7th grade where the "B" team can have some more fun while the A team tries to win their NBA title. Thank you for all you do

		Boys		3 I do appreciate that my son gets a lot of playing time	I do not like that the 7th grade team (and 6th last year) are divided by skill. Because we always get the bottom players, our boys hardly ever win a game and often lose by very large scores. It's very defeating for them. I would love to see the teams split up more evenly.

I do not feel our 7th grade team has a positive experience because they hardly ever win any games. It's very hard to play against a team as big as south oldgam and get beat by 40-50 points. We should only be playing schools that are about the same size as us. Playing against a county school where they have a huge number of players is not good for our boys. And our boys are never allowed to play in a tournament, while the A team is

Just right	5	3	Text	Yes	I believe for early Saturday morning games or late afternoon games, drinks and snacks like bagged chips or donuts should be provided at the ticket table. We can barely get enough parents to volunteer for admissions and concessions. Parents and guests often asked where they could get something to drink when our concessions wasn't open because we didn't have volunteers. For the games that are not during lunch or dinner, simple snacks/waters/donuts could be available at the admissions table. This cuts down on the number of volunteers needed and also provides those watching or playing with an option for food and drink
