Kathy Jo Elkins, Library Media Specialist

September 15 2025

On a regular basis, libraries should be going through a process called weeding. This is where materials that no longer "fit" the collection are removed from the collection.

Reasons for weeding a title....

- Outdated or incorrect information
- Copy is very worn from use
- Copy is no longer 'relevant' to the patrons the library serves (in the case of BCHS, the students and faculty/staff in our building)
- Multiple copies have been on the shelf due to demand but when the demand decreases, multiple copies of the same title are no longer needed.

During the 2025-26 school year, the BCHS Library would like to take our discarded titles and find 'new homes' for them. Due to the timing of this round of weeding, I was granted permission to go ahead and offer the books to our Faculty/Staff and Students during a Book Exchange on International Literacy Day's Book Exchange on Sept. 8th. The books with an asterisk next to the titles are the ones that have not been claimed and will be donated as mentioned below.

1. Books that are outdated or have incorrect information will be recycled.
2. Faculty/Staff will be allowed to select from remaining discarded titles for their personal/classroom collections.
3. Students will then be allowed to select discarded titles for their own collections.
4. Any remaining titles will be donated to the Paris/Bourbon County Public Library for their Friends of the Library sale or the Millersburg Lending Library or possibly donated to Stoner Creek Center.
 - a. If these locations are not accepting donations, we will explore the possibility of using a company, Better World Books, who will help find these books a new location that isn't a landfill. This company resells the books to support literacy grants and donates unsold books to other non-profit organizations. Some money generated from their book sales may be returned to the BCHS Library.

Through the process of weeding, libraries are able to ensure space is available for new authors/titles or other services/resources that previously weren't available.

Thank you for your consideration,
Kathy Jo Elkins
