LIST OF INITIAL REPAIRS TO BASEBALL FIELD

Assessment

- Infield skin area is native dirt which is high in Silt content. This creates issues like: very dusty when dry, mucky/slimy on top when wet, easily blows/migrates which creates low spots and lips.
- Very little conditioner/topdressing present which assists with proper moisture management.
- Grade shots confirm low and high spots present in several areas of the infield skin.
- Back arc has 1 – 3 inch lips all around the dirt to grass transition. This prevents proper water runoff.
- Back arc has approximately 6 feet of poor vegetation on top of where the arc used to be and was brought in to shrink the field size.
- Bases are a little off of the desired 60' apart. Home plate is not aligned.

Solution

- Remove lips from all edges. I recommend the removal of the 6 feet of poor vegetation as well. Choices are to go back to the old arc, which would be further than necessary, or lay a couple rows of new sod to keep the shorter distance and create a defined grass edge.
- Grade existing material to eliminate low and high spots.
- Install/incorporate 50 tons DuraEdge Classic Infield Mix evenly over the entire skin surface. This would be laser graded and compacted to achieve positive surface drainage.
- Topdress with 3 tons Fairball Conditioner
- Reset home plate and bases

Notes

- All spoils removed during arc cleanup to be left onsite at agreed upon area
- No future infield mix would be needed for this field for several years. A pallet of conditioner should be considered at least every other year.
- Maintenance education will be provided
