STUDENT OF THE MONTH

PANTHER ACADEMY

Lula has been chosen as our Kindergarten Student of the Month because she does an excellent job following our Guidelines for Success every day.

Lula practices responsibility by taking care of her materials and always trying her best with her work. She acts respectfully by listening to her teacher and classmates and using kind words. Lula also works cooperatively with others during group activities and is always willing to share and help.

One of Lula's most special qualities is showing kindness. She is a wonderful friend who includes others and makes everyone feel welcome in the classroom.

We are very proud of Lula and the positive example she sets for others!

STUDENT OF THE MONTH

MORNINGSIDE ELEMENTARY SCHOOL

It is my pleasure to recognize Scarlett as our Student of the Month for Morningside Elementary. She consistently demonstrates kindness toward her classmates, approaches her learning with curiosity and thoughtful insight, and contributes meaningful ideas during class discussions. A dedicated and hardworking student, Scarlett puts forth her very best effort in everything she does and models responsibility each day. Even when others may struggle to make the right choices, she leads by example, showing integrity, helpfulness, and a genuine commitment to doing what is right. - Mrs. Billings

Scarlett is a wonderful example of what you would want to see as a leader of our school at Morningside. In writing times there are many times I have wanted to climb inside of her mind because not many fourth grade students have the talent and ability to write in the way that Scarlett does. Her writing takes you away on journeys and adventures better than some authors. Not only is Scarlett academically talented, she is hard working, kind, helpful and a considerate friend to others. I am lucky to have the chance to have her in class this year. ~Ms. Jury

Scarlett may come across as shy and quiet at first, but she is truly a leader in our classroom. When working in groups, she naturally steps into a guiding role, supporting her classmates in the kindest and most thoughtful way. She helps others grow and succeed while always making them feel valued and included.

Anyone lucky enough to call Scarlett a friend knows what true friendship and loyalty look like. She leads with kindness, stays true to herself, and makes our classroom a better place simply by being in it. ~Mrs. Rogers

Scarlett consistently demonstrates our Guidelines for Success by being respectful, responsible, cooperative, and always striving to be her best. She is a wonderful role model for her classmates and sets a positive example every day in the classroom. She actively participates in class discussions and activities, always giving her best effort. In addition, she is quick to lend a helping hand to classmates and supports others with kindness and encouragement. Her positive attitude and strong work ethic make our classroom a better place. We are very proud of her and the example she sets for others! ~Ms. Wallace

ELIZABETHTOWN HIGH SCHOOL

DIEGO SANCHEZ

Diego Sanchez is a Senior at EHS. Diego is the son of Maria Sanchez Ramos. He is a member of the Beta Club and TSA. Diego works at Hope Academy for kids after school. He helps younger students with language barriers and their homework. He is also a student in the Engineering Program. His favorite high school memory is entering the Engineering program and working on projects. Diego plans to attend WKU for Civil Engineering. His goal is to start his own Engineering Business one day.

Mr. Silva: Diego is a hard working individual who has really matured these last 2 years at EHS. His drive to succeed is what sets him apart from most other students. I wish him nothing but the best in all of Diego's future endeavors. Good luck Diego.

Mrs. LaPerle: Diego is hard working, insightful and a meticulous writer.

Ms. Mills: Diego is known among both teachers and classmates for his ability to "build anything." he approaches engineering challenges with a rare mix of curiosity, talent, and precision. Whether sketching, dimensioning, prototyping, or assembling, he brings a level of commitment and excitement that elevates every project he touches.

Diego's classmates speak highly of his kindness and teamwork. He is the type of student who collaborates without ego, supports others' ideas, and can seamlessly step into a leadership role when needed. Teachers note his strong work ethic and his determination to make every detail of a project just right—qualities that have already distinguished him as a young engineer with a bright future.

Those strengths were on full display earlier this year when the Wesley Hilltop House Christmas display was mentioned in class. While others were still discussing possibilities, he immediately began sketching concepts, outlining dimensions, and developing ideas for how the class could bring the display to life. His enthusiasm set the tone for the entire project, inspiring others to dive in with equal energy.

With plans to attend Western Kentucky University and major in engineering, he is already preparing for the next chapter. Friends say his passion for building and creating goes far beyond the classroom, and his teachers have no doubt that he will thrive in WKU's rigorous engineering program.

As graduation approaches, he leaves behind a legacy of craftsmanship, collaboration, and creativity—qualities that define not only a strong student, but a future engineer ready to make his mark.

STUDENT OF THE MONTH

CARTER WILLETT

Carter,

Congrats on being named TK Stone Middle School's Student of the Month!

#PantherPride

T.K. STONE MIDDLE SCHOOL

Carter Willett is a wonderful example of what it means to be a panther. He is an active member of the Beta Club, and Student Council. He also participates on our football and basketball teams. His experience as an athlete has taught him to go hard and try your best at everything. He really enjoys working out and spending time with the team.

Carter loves TK because of how active students can be- there are a lot of opportunities. He is looking forward to attending EHS and is excited about the independence that high school will offer. He would love to attend the University of Kentucky and hopefully play college football. Eventually he would love to become a marine biologist. His role model is his dad, because he has taught him a lot about life and to always do his best.

Carter consistently demonstrates a positive attitude and a willingness to lend a helping hand to peers and teachers alike. Carter is highly competitive in the best sense of the word—pushing himself to improve while encouraging others to do the same. In the classroom, Carter is hardworking and driven, maintaining high academic achievement through focus, discipline, and perseverance. Beyond academics, Carter brings the same level of dedication and determination to his athletics, striving for excellence and leading by example both on and off the field and court. - Coach Thorn

As a student-athlete, Carter balances his responsibilities with maturity and determination. He has truly risen to the occasion in Algebra I with strong work ethic and perseverance. I am especially proud of the effort he puts into his learning and the integrity and character he shows each day. Carter is not only a hard worker but also a great young person who represents our school well. - Mr. Appelman

Carter is a wonderful student to have in class. He has done extremely well this year and will no doubt do great things in high school. Carter is also kind to all students and is quick to look out for a buddy who might need help with an assignment or need some motivation to "lock in" and get the project completed. Way to go, Carter! This award is very well-deserved! -Mrs. T Thomas

Carter, you come to class prepared and ready to learn. You treat adults and other students with respect. If someone needs help, you are willing to offer assistance. You have a calm demeanor. You give your best each day. I know you are destined for greatness. I wish you all the best as you begin high school. Thank you for being you! -Mrs. Kast

HELMWOOD HEIGHTS ELEMENTARY SCHOOL

Malone is a dedicated and hardworking student whose achievements reflect her strong determination and commitment to excellence. She approaches each day with focus and a genuine desire to grow, earning success through consistent effort rather than seeking the spotlight. While she may seem quiet at first, Malone demonstrates thoughtful leadership through her kindness, reliability, and willingness to help classmates when asked. Her steady example creates a positive and supportive environment in our classroom.

Malone brings warmth and positivity to our classroom community, connecting with others through her kindness, her uplifting personality, and a wonderful sense of humor that helps bring our classroom together. The positive energy she brings to the classroom is the same energy she carries onto the soccer field, basketball court, and the volleyball court. She proudly represents our school as a member of the BETA Club. She is a multi-sport athlete, a straight A student, and a loyal friend who represents the best of Helmwood Heights. Malone's character, perseverance, and uplifting spirit make her truly deserving of this recognition, and I am incredibly proud to celebrate her as our Student of the Month. -Peggy Whitmer, 4th grade teacher

Malone will never be the loudest in the room, but she will most certainly always be doing the right thing. She leads by example, by work ethic, and by her extraordinary character. No challenge is too great, nor lesson too hard for her to learn. She rises to every occasion and expectation because that is what she demands of herself. Through sports and extracurricular activities, she represents us well in and beyond the classroom. Malone is an excellent selection for student of the month and reflects all of our guidelines of success daily. -Mrs.Parker
