

Assistant Superintendent Report June 2026

Summer Momentum and Strategic Planning

As we continue through the summer, our focus remains on building strong systems, refining district processes, and preparing for an exceptional 2026–2027 school year. While many of our initiatives happen behind the scenes, this intentional work lays the foundation for continued student success and organizational excellence. I am excited for the opportunities ahead and grateful for the collaboration that continues to move Bellevue Independent Schools forward.

Curriculum, Instruction, Assessment

Preparation for the New School Year

Planning for August professional learning and opening-day logistics continues to progress. Our goal is to ensure that every staff member begins the school year with the resources, clarity, and support needed to provide outstanding learning experiences for our students.

Work also continues on refining district systems that support our Guaranteed and Viable Curriculum, Multi-Tiered System of Supports (MTSS), assessment practices, and instructional consistency across both schools.

Professional Learning

In late June, I attended the NWEA MAP Fusion Conference alongside Lisa Taylor and Sara Teegarden. Throughout the conference, we explored the latest updates to the MAP Growth platform, emerging assessment practices, and innovative strategies for maximizing the use of student data. The sessions provided valuable insights into how we can leverage assessment data more intentionally to inform instruction, personalize learning, monitor student growth, and ultimately improve student achievement across the district. We look forward to sharing these learning experiences with our staff as we continue strengthening our data-informed instructional practices.

2025-2026 Year in Re'vue'

One of the highlights of the summer was the release of our 2025-2026 Year in Re'Vue,' published on July 7. This publication celebrates the incredible accomplishments of our students, staff, families, and community throughout the past school year while showcasing the many reasons Bellevue Independent Schools continues to thrive. Leadership Retreat

I look forward to joining our district leadership team at next week's annual retreat as we continue strengthening Bellevue's systems, processes, and organizational structures. This dedicated planning time allows us to reflect on lessons learned, align priorities, and build a strategic roadmap for the year ahead.
